

ABSTRACT

5       A photocatalyst-containing substrate having an organic substrate and fine photocatalyst particles, wherein the fine photocatalyst particles are deposited on the surface of the organic substrate with a resin binder containing a shellac resin. The photocatalyst-containing substrate can be suitably used for clothes, interior fibrous articles such as curtains, floor mattresses, interior materials for automobiles and the like.